Thank you very much for your kind invitation. The "Global Energy Conservation and New Energy Vehicles Industry Summit" sounds very interesting indeed and the summit includes a wide range of all the important new vehicle technologies, including innovations in energy conservation and emission reduction.

China is one of the premium partners of the German automotive industry and is a vital and prospering automobile market. It is great to see that the Chinese manufacturers are taking the environment issues so seriously. It is essential that all across the world we become far more independent of oil and to continue to develop more sustainable vehicle propulsion. The electric vehicle is one of the alternatives for long-term, replacement of more traditional fuels and drive systems.

Fiat attaches great importance to the Chinese market and appreciates your mission of promoting exchanges between Asian and World manufacturing industries. Entrusted by Mr. Marchionne, Fiat China, as regional headquarters of our group, is available to explore opportunities of diversified cooperation. Actually, already in December 2010, our Corporate Affairs Department and your Secretariat established a dialogue in order to maintain a long term relationship. Moreover, I personally am at your disposal for further discussion at your convenience.

I take this opportunity to wish your Association every success and a happy new year of Rabbit to you and your family.

CONFINDUSTRIA

I am pleased that the Asian Manufacturing Association is opening to manufacturing associations like Confindustria to develop mutually beneficial economic relationship.

The importance of your country's economy and the growing interest of our entrepreneurs certainly require to look at the opportunities and challenges of a sustainable development through mutual cooperation efforts.

In this respect, your intention to get new perspectives and ideas from many international actors would definitely provide the basis for deepening trade and investment cooperation with China.
